Psalm 119.1

Prayer for the Day

Almighty God,
you gave the law to guide our lives:
grant that we may never shrink from your commandments,
but, as we are taught by your Spirit,
may fulfil your law in perfect love;
through Christ our Lord and Master,
who lives and reigns with you and the Holy Spirit,
one God now and for ever.
Amen.

All are welcome to receive communion

Prayers and anointing for healing are available during communion in the chapel, at the back of the church.

Please keep this time quiet for those who are praying

Theme

For the last few weeks we have been immersed in the Sermon on the Mount in Matthew 5. It is set right at the beginning of Jesus ministry, and is important for the rest of what Matthew offer. In it Jesus offers a theological foundation both for what he has done so far, and what he will say and do for the rest of the gospel. He begins by inviting his disciples to imagine an entirely different world from the one they were looking out on, and from what we experience. A world where the measure of who is deemed important, notable, eminent and influential was not the rich, the powerful, the high born; but the wretched, despised, and the meek. He goes on to say that when we live this, we will become salt and light, helping bring in the kingdom of heaven or the long-promised reign of God.

That last line is important. In Matthew Jesus wasn't doing something new. He was not replacing the old. He was fulfilling the ancient and trustworthy traditions that come from God. That is important when we read Matthew 5: 21-37. These can easily be read as Jesus offering a new law. But he has just said that he has not come to replace, and instead invites us to go beyond the words and literal reading of the law and the prophets and to wrestle with the intention - the heart of the matter. This is what happens when we apply the beatitudes to the law and prophets. We are invited into God's deepest desire for humanity and how we live with each other and all creation. This is not rule keeping but loving relationships where all thrive. What do you want to say in response?

Prayer

Our community - We pray for the communities of Gate Pa, Greerton, Pyes Pa and Merivale. We pray for those who live without hope, and all those who seek to bring your hope. We particularly pray for the ministry of Centrepont, Whanau Aroha Centre and Merivale Community Centre.

We pray for those who are dying, sick, in hospital or in any other kind of need: Parishioners in rest homes and those who receive home communion, and any others you hold in your hearts currently.

Our Church: Today we pray for the people of the Te Puke Parish & their clergy: Ruth Dewdney (Vicar).

Wider Church: Today we pray for mission in New Zealand. We also pray for those who lead the Anglican Church in our region.
